Rules and Regulations 2007

- From the 1st July 1992 the offences of dangerous driving, careless and inconsiderate driving of a vehicle on a road also applies to a public place i.e. Banger Racing organised by the Banger Racing Club Limited at Penrhiw, Aberarth, Nr. Aberaeron.
- In response to the directives of this new act, Banger Racing Club Limited has applied and been granted IOPD authorisation and therefore exempt.
- Exemption means that the offences of dangerous, careless or inconsiderate driving do not apply to those taking part in Banger Racing Club Limited events provided that the driver is driving in accordance with the events safety rules and regulations.
- Banger Racing Club Limited hereby informs all the participants that an infringement of the events safety rules and regulations as stated herein and in any final instructions will result in the automatic disqualifications.
- Participating or officiating while under the influence of drugs or alcohol is strictly prohibited (Please remember you are still liable for drinking offences).
- In Terms of this rule it is important that we emphasise that the amended Road Traffic Act 1991 is very clear as to the illegality of being in control of a mechanically propelled vehicle while under the influence of drugs or alcohol, whether on the public road or public place.
- Thus an IOPD exemption from the Road Traffic Act protecting participants will not safeguard a participant should he/she be in control of a mechanically propelled vehicle while under the influence of drugs or alcohol.
- A red flag will be used if an unauthorised person or persons enter prescribed safety zones; the event will be suspended until those persons have withdrawn from the safety zones.
- Written agreement of a parent or guardian must accompany the entry form of competitors under 18 years of age.
